Subdivision questions over-night parking

How safe is it to park your car overnight in the street? This question was brought to the attention of the Antioch Village Board by the president of the Oakwood Knolls Property Owners Association, at the board meeting Feb. 5.

President of the association Mike Smith is requesting that an ordinance be reinstated forbidding overnight parking on the streets of the subdivision.

During the winter months, the dangers of overnight parking lessen, as after an inch of snowfall, it is forbidden on any of the village streets, according to Superintendent of Public Works, Todd Maplethorpe.

Maplethorpe stated that overnight parking on different streets will be a question of how wide the pavement is on each.

The matter has been turned over to the Safety Commission for evaluation.

Chamber seeks assistance

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry is looking for input and support from the area and resorts and industry in Antioch. The new office at 882 Main Street in the old police station promises to start the chamber off to a productive 1985...but they need support.

Residents can look forward to an extra-special Easter this year when an Easter Parade, sponsored by the chamber, marches through the village on March 16. The village board passed a resolution setting aside the date at a meeting Feb. 5. A rain date has been set for March 23.

The chamber is already planning for the event in hopes that it will be as successful as the Christmas Parade last year.

An added twist, an Easter Castle, is being designed by Vince Giorgi.

The chamber asks anyone interested in volunteering to help at their new office to stop in after Feb. 15, when the office will open. Any help to get the chamber rolling will be appreciated.

Toft recovers from surgery

Mayor Raymond Toft is recovering nicely after undergoing open-heart surgery last Thursday. Toft was hospitalized at St. Lukes in Milwaukee, Wis.

"We were all pretty shaken last week. He's recovering very well and hopefully will be home soon, said Shirley Gutowski, of Antioch Village Hall.

"He sounds in good spirits," she added.

In looking ahead to the coming election, Toft will have "the rest of the party to work twice as hard for him," she said.

Valentine messages: traditions old and new

by LEE ANN MACKULIN

Lacey, heart-shaped greetings, boxes of sweets and dozens of roses, red of course, are all signs that cupid is back, filling all of us with warm-hearted thoughts of those dear to us.

"If you can see your girlfriend smile it makes it all worth while," said Mike Dydo, senior at Antioch Community High School.

Dydo is proof that the spirit of Valentines Day is in everyone...even teenagers. ACHS holds a chocolate sucker sale, sponsored by the school paper, every Feb. 14. Suckers are sent, along with a note, to the classroom of that 'special someone'.

"It's the little things that mean the most," said Dydo.

"I was thinking of buying her (his girlfriend) a dozen roses...but they just die, so I decided on a gift," he added.

For those unattached, Valentines Day is a time for sharing and caring with family members.

ACHS student Kathy Budovec looks forward to "exchanging little stuffed animals and chocolate," with her family every Feb. 14.

Who's the man behind this red-coated holiday? It's not the owner of the local candy store or the manager of the Hallmark Shop around the corner.

St. Valentine, a Christian priest, is the legend behind the day. According to legend, Emperor Claudius II, of ancient Rome, forbade young men to marry as he needed them in his army.

Disobeying the emperor, Valentine performed secret marriages and was beheaded for his 'crime' on Feb. 14.

This day is thus set aside to honor Valentine who believed so strongly in love.

Originating in Rome, the holiday was soon wide-spread, and customs soon started. In England, partridges and blackbirds returned from the south in February, building nests in preparation to raise their young. Many women thought of love and marriage when the birds began nesting, using magic spells and charms to predict who their husbands would be.

In the early 1600's, wealthy Frenchmen began throwing lavish Valentine parties. Madame Royale, a French princess, named her palace, "The Valentine."

Sending lavish gifts such as rings and lockets also became common in the 1600's. Giving a woman a pair of gloves meant he was asking for her hand in marriage. This was a common way of proposing.

A seventeenth century poem set stage for the custom.

Go little gloves, salute my Valentine
Which was, which is, which must and shall be mine

It wasn't until the 1800's that a 'Valentine' was considered a written message of love.

A hand-painted picture on a single sheet of paper was typical of the first Valentines. The paper was usually decorated with satin ribbon and real-lace borders. A space was left empty for messages.

'Valentine Writers' were books filled with verses one could look to when in search of

Voice of Democracy announces

On Friday, Feb. 15 at 7:30 p.m. the V.F.W. Sequoit Post 4551, along with the Ladies Auxilliary will have a presentation of awards to 17 year old Christine Vileikis, a senior at Antioch High School.

Vileikis was the first place winner from Antioch High School in the annual Voice of Democracy program which is sponsored by the V.F.W.

To enter the Voice of Democracy contest students write a 3-5 minute script which expresses the students' ideas about the personal responsibilities U.S. citizens have as well as the understanding of the rights and responsibilities of being an American. This year's theme is "My Pledge To America." Each student enters a written script as well as a recording of the script.

Students must be high school sophomores, juniors or seniors in public, parochial and private schools in the United States and overseas. U.S. Citizenship is required and exchange students are not eligible. The students also may not refer to their race or nationality or identify their school, city or state.

The program is usually conducted as a classroom project in a government, civics, history or english class. Students may also enter on an individual basis.

No matter how the student is entered, the script must be the result of the student's own thinking and the recording must be in the student's voice. The scripts are judged on delivery, originality and content.

Vileikis entered the district competition held on Nov. 16 but did not place as one of the finalists. The district winner will go on to a state competition where the winner will receive a five day all expense paid trip to Washington D.C. The state winner will then compete for national scholarships totaling $32,500 to be spread out among the top six winners.

There will also be a memorial service to honor the servicemen who served in the Spanish-American War, as Feb. 15 is the anniversary of the sinking of the U.S.S. Maine in Havana Harbor in 1898.

Valentine

that perfect message for their Valentine
The messages were both romantic and comical.

A more romantic card might say:
May you answer, "Yes," my heart
And no longer keep us apart
Remember I love you, dear Valentine
You must be mine as I am thine
A comical Valentine was typical of this
'Tis all in vain your simpering looks
You never can incline—
With all your bustles, stays and curls
To find a Valentine

After the Civil War, comic Valentine's were becoming less and less comical and more insulting.

You are a gallant soldier,
With a splendid figure for parade;

The country is safe in your keeping
So long as you fight in the shade.
Since that time, the sentimental Valentine has become the most popular.

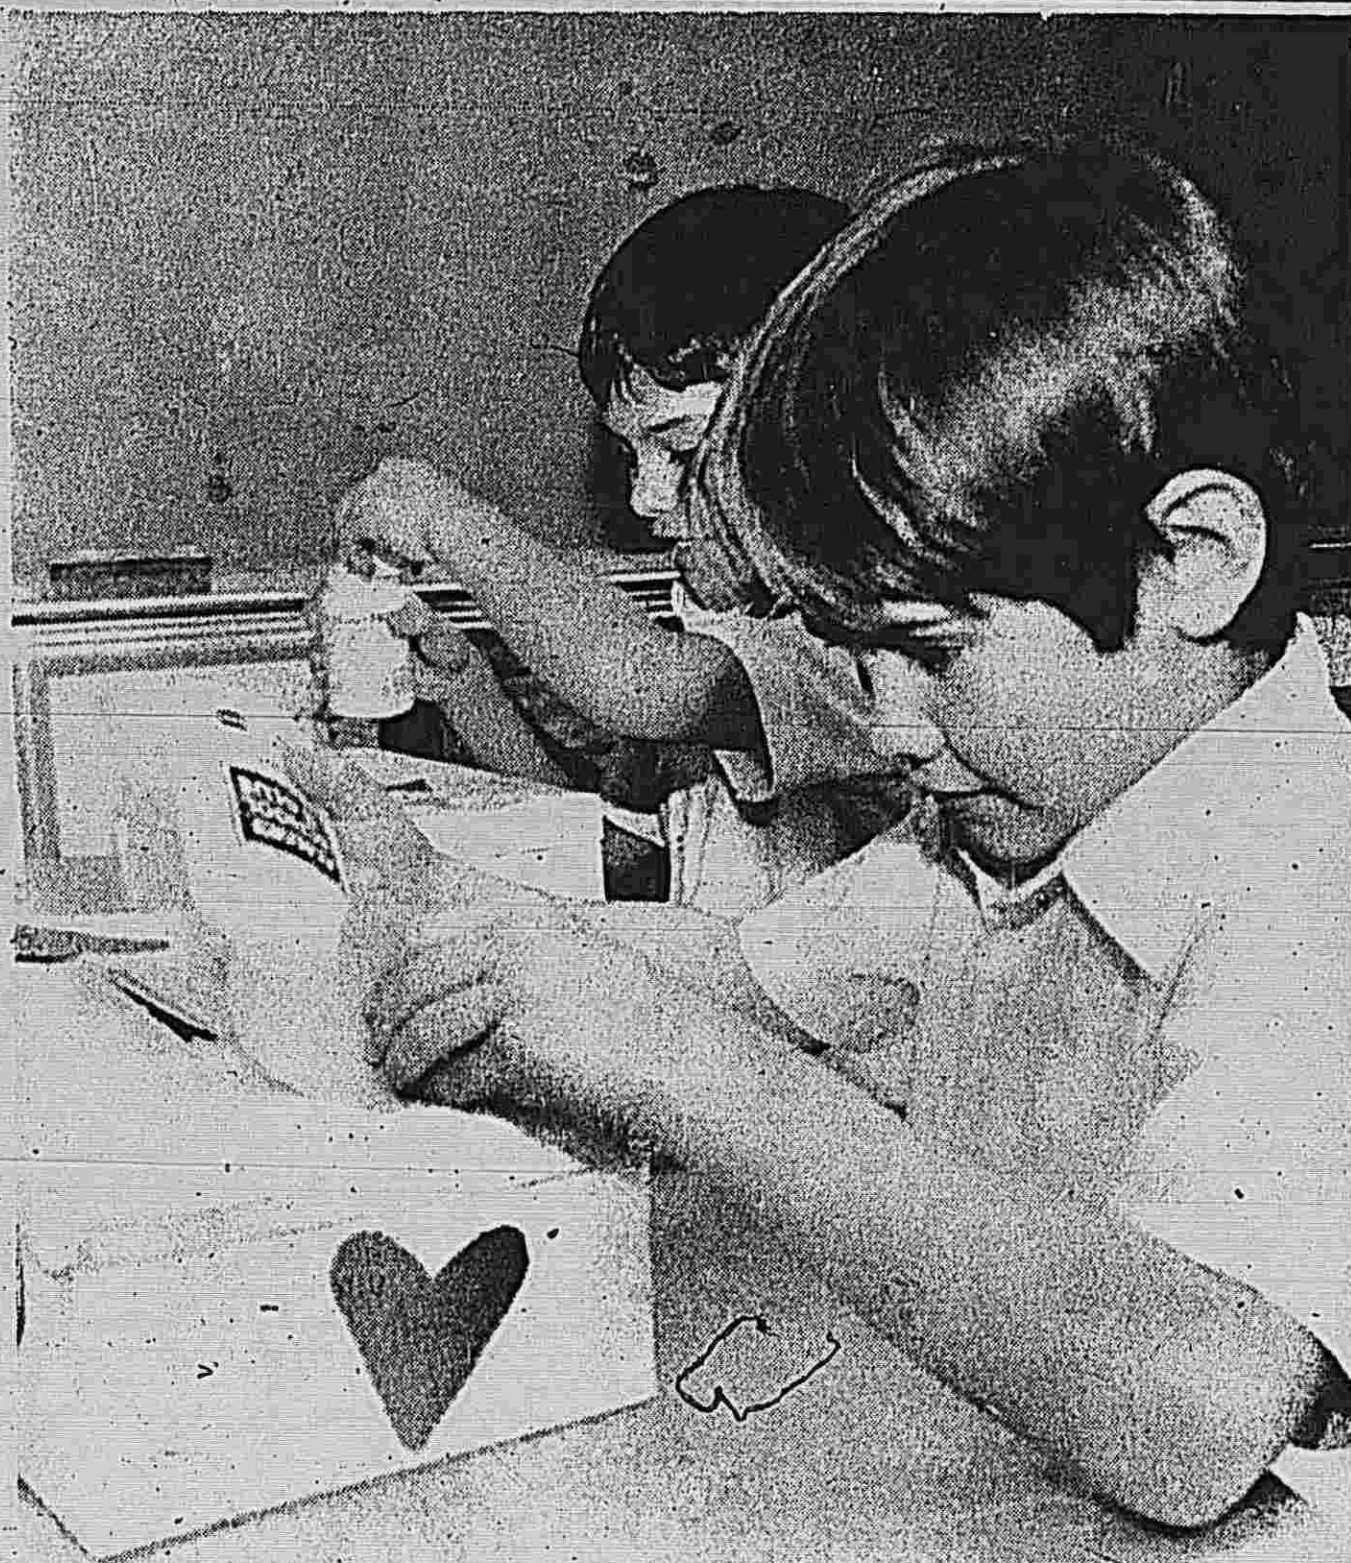

The major companies responsible for making available the Valentines familiar to us, Hallmark, Norcross, Gibson, American Greetings and Rust Craft, were all started between 1906 and 1919.

The verses changed in content as rapidly as the cards changed in style. From the 'thees' and 'thous' of a verse like; Dear Valentine I love thee, pray tell if thou lovest me; to everyday language of a verse like; Roses are Red, the grass is green, you're the cutest girl I've ever seen.

No matter what the verse...valentine messages are always heart-felt.

Auxiliary considers sponsoring teen

The Illinois Alcohol and Drug Dependence Association, a 'preventive' program for teens, has brought the question of sponsoring a teenager through the program, to the attention of the Antioch Sequoit Post 4551 Veterans of Foreign Wars and Auxiliary.

If the post elects to sponsor, the teen must be a sophomore, junior or senior of ACHS and not have a drug or alcohol problem. The student selected would be trained to become a youth leader in the community in a preventive program.

The post is reminded that they would not just be sponsoring one teenager for the program but will make it possible to teach hundreds of other students from kindergarten to high school about the dangers of substance abuse.

A special meeting of the post will be held Feb. 6, to make plans for the Voice of Democracy awards presentation. The sequoia's first place winner is Christine Vileikis. The banquet will be held Feb. 15.

In keeping with their theme "Guardians of Liberty", the post has donated $75 to the restoration of the Statue of Liberty.

Jaycees receive award

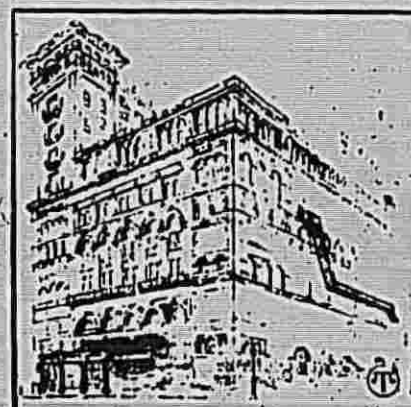

The Antioch Jaycees will meet Feb. 14 at My Brother's Place, a new meeting location, next to Webbs Marina.

The Jaycees would like to welcome their two newest members, Jay Bayless and Kevin Hucker.

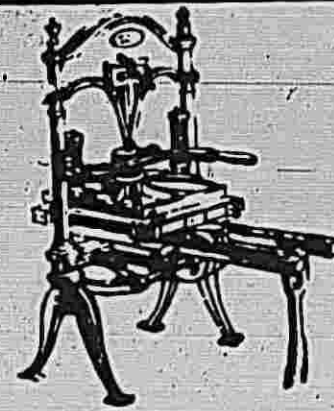

Antioch Jaycees received "Most Enthusiatic Chapter" award at the Regional meeting in Palestine.

Keeping up with many ongoing projects through the year has earned them this award. Preparing for Las Vegas night, getting in-involved with the Historical Society, Community Survey, Family Life Development, computer classes and membership recruitment drives are a few areas of interest for the Antioch Jaycees.

Save your vision month set for March

With the theme, "Life is Worth Seeing," the 58th annual celebration of Save

Your Vision Month will be observed during March, the Illinois Optometric

Association (IOA) has announced. Governor James Thompson has proclaimed March to be Save Your Vision Month in Illinois to remind residents of the role good vision plays in their lives and of the importance of preserving their vision with proper preventative health care.

"This year's theme expresses the many reasons we all have to preserve and protect our own good vision and be concerned about the visual welfare of others," said Dr. Allen Baker, president of the Illinois Optometric Association. "The 'Life Is Worth Seeing' theme points out the importance of good vision at all ages and reminds everyone that vision care for themselves and their families plays an important role in preserving quality of life," Dr. Baker said.

As the major sponsor of Save Your Vision Week in Illinois, the IOA will begin a month-long vision care observance. The program features public services messages and community activities focusing on good vision and preventive care.

The Illinois Optometric Association represents doctors of optometry, health care professionals who specialize in the examination, diagnosis and treatment of conditions or

'Natural eyes' micro-surgery hits Midwest

Women have been accentuating their eyes with cosmetics since before the ancient Greeks...and they've regarded the task as a necessary nuisance ever since—until now.

Dr. Randall Bellows, a noted Chicago ophthalmologist, has brought "Natural Eyes" to the Midwest. "Natural Eyes" is a patented microsurgery procedure that implants non-toxic pigment just beneath the skin of all four eyelid margins to produce natural-looking, permanently highlighted eyes.

The hour-long procedure, technically called a "Blepharopigmentation", was developed three years ago in Nevada, and has been performed on over three hundred women with often striking results.

Using a specially-designed state-of-the-art machine that resembles a cross between a space age dentist's drill and tattooist's needle, Dr. Bellows injects a carefully-formulated pigment in a series of microscopic dots between and at the base of the eyelashes to create a subtle look that makes the lashes themselves appear to be longer, thicker and darker. Because the instrument inserts the pigment just below the first layer of skin, there is no danger of the color running, smearing or wearing off. In addition, the thin layer of translucent skin over the pigment adds even more dimension by making the color look natural, rather than applied as with conventional makeup.

Through consultation, the patient selects the color that best complements her skin tone. Should she wish to change her "Natural Eyes" color or intensify the subtle look, conventional cosmetic eyeliner can be applied directly over it.

"Working so close to the eyes, there is a natural concern regarding possible side effects or future vision problems. In over three hundred cases, however, there have been absolutely no infections, no allergic reactions nor irritations. The procedure is done under high magnification to guide the instruments and the pigment used in a completely inert, sterile substance."

Although the "Natural Eyes" process is a perfect beauty aid for today's busy woman, Dr. Bellows views the procedure as a therapeutic operation as well. "Some women just cannot apply their own eyeliner. Women with parkinsonism, arthritis, tremors or vision problems cannot draw a fine eye outline with a makeup pencil. When they try, the result is often a scratched, damaged cornea. With "Natural Eyes" they can still have the reassurance and self-confidence of beautiful eyes without eye damage.

Bellows became acquainted with the "Natural Eyes" procedure in his capacity of Editor of the prestigious medical journal, "Annals of Ophthalmology," a publication of the American Society of Contemporary Ophthalmology. The inventor of the concept, Dr. Giora Angres, M.D., submitted a research paper on the subject to Bellows for publication. Bellows accepted the paper, and was so intrigued by the concept that he contacted Dr. Angres for further information.

After more than a year of training and observation of the method, Bellows became one of a handful of ophthalmologists in the country to incorporate the "Natural Eyes" process into his private practice. He is the only ophthalmologist in the Midwest to have both the experience and highly specialized equipment to perform the microsurgery and teach the technique.

Patients wishing further information on the "Natural Eyes" concept should contact Dr. Bellows' offices at 211 E. Chicago Ave., 787-3335 or through the offices of Kim Montell Associates.

It has been estimated that the average lifespan of a sewing machine is 23 years—the longest of most everyday appliances.

Investigators receive 'knowledge' of fire

A grease fire at 295 Joanna Court brought in some well-educated people for investigation. The Chief Investigator Wayne Parthun, Jerry Quedenfeld and photographer Jeff Smouse were attending a Lake County Fire Investigation Seminar when they were called away to look into the fire.

The fire, which was started by grease on an electric stove, caused damage to the kitchen and smoke damage to the entire apartment.

Neighboring residents in the apartment building detected the smoke, contacting the landlord, who then reported the fire.

A friendly visit to the dentist? The kindergarten classes of the W. C. Petty School had a two-hour tour of the Antioch Dental Center Building in an effort to "eliminate the fear of the unknown," according to Dr. Robert Sven.

The morning and afternoon kindergarten classes made the tour on Feb. 1. Fifty children toured the center and the office of Dr. Sven.

The purpose of the onsite tour was to familiarize the children with the dental environment. Taking the fear out of their first dental visit is the best way to take the fear out of dentistry, according to Sven.

The children learned much from the dental center staff. They were taught hygiene instructions, proper foods to eat, instruments used in dentistry and how x-rays are taken of teeth.

The children were also given the opportunity to make a mold of their teeth.

"The apprehension noticed at the beginning of the tour was soon eliminated," according to Sven.

Set free blood pressure

Free blood pressure screening will be offered to the public from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 21, at St. Therese Area Trauma Satellite, located on Rt. 59, just south of Grand Ave. in Lake Villa. No registration is required.

The medical term for high blood pressure is "hypertension." Left untreated, high blood pressure increases the risk of premature illness or death from coronary heart disease, stroke and heart or kidney failure.

For more information, contact the Public Relations Dept. at St. Therese Hospital, (312) 578-2304.

Student awarded scholarship

Scichowski is a member of the OU chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers and president of Chi Epsilon.

Receive state funds

The Illinois State Scholarship Commission recently announced the 1985-86 Illinois State Scholars. Of this year's Scholars, 98 are residents of the 62nd Legislative District. Although program participation by high school students is voluntary, nearly all Illinois' top students elect to have test scores and high school class rank sent to ISSC for consideration in the popular program. About 10 percent are named State Scholars and receive a Certificate of Merit for the accomplishment.

In order to enter the competition, high school students must take the ACT or SAT examination during the junior year of high school and have the scores sent to ISSC. Selection of Scholars is based on a combination of their test scores and their class rank at the end of the junior year. Nearly all will continue their education after high school.

'On Golden Pond' well worth seeing

by JEAN RYBICKI

PM&L's presentation of Ernest Thompson's "On Golden Pond" was nothing less than delightful...beginning with its well selected cast.

Frank Greenwood plays the perfect Norman Thayer with his constant complaints and especially his mastery of the teenage language used by young Billy Ray, performed by Mitch Young.

Anne-Marie Cina, as Ethel Thayer, gave a super performance as a supportive and loving wife. She projects life's memories in everyday happenings and is always there when needed.

Regina Lightfoot, as Chelsea Thayer Wayne, gave a convincing performance. There were times throughout her performance, one felt quite emotional.

Mark Heller's performance of Billy Ray was splendid. His actions were perfectly executed. Providing excellent expressions throughout his entire performance, he gave a very good performance.

Stealing the show with a sterling performance in his PM&L debut was R. J. Reber as Charlie Martin (Chelsea's old boyfriend), the mailman. Reber mastered the accent and actions of his performance. It was hard to remember that Reber is a Kenosha resident and not from Golden Pond.

The play starts with Ethel and Norman Thayer arriving at their summer residence, unpacking for a summer of fishing, swimming and relaxing with expectations of who knows what!

The story takes one through memory lane...through life's happenings, both happy and sad.

It concludes with Norman and Ethel packing to leave, covering the furniture, until they return next year.

Congratulations to the stage manager, Elmarie Beno and assistant stage manager Ailenn Biel on a job well done.

Stage crew, set construction, lights, costumes and special effects were all excellent.

A play well worth seeing, with five performances left; Feb. 15, 16, 17, 22 and 23. Give yourself a treat and don't miss this one.

Sequoits snap losing streak, face Fenton

The Antioch Varsity Boy's Basketball team raised its North Suburban Conference record to 6-7 with a win over the North Chicago Warhawks on Feb. 8.

The Sequoits will try to go above .500 in conference action when they play Fenton at home on Friday, Feb. 15 and then travel to Zion-Benton on Saturday, Feb. 16.

Fenton is having a horrible season as they have only managed to win one game in the conference (1-12), coming off a heart-breaking 60-57 loss to Zion.

Zion-Benton, on the other hand, is 10-3 in the conference and is still in the race for the conference crown, only two games behind conference-leader Niles North.

Antioch is coming off a 55-

43 victory over North Chicago, snapping its three-game losing streak.

Junior Dave Grindley and senior Dave Hart led the Sequoits in scoring against the Warhawks with 18 and 15 points respectively.

North Chicago had three players with three fouls apiece before the intermission (J.C. Coleman, Mark Tompkins and Kenny Blanchard) but still only trailed by one point with three minutes remaining in the game.

The Sequoits held on in the final minutes for the victory, as they upped their overall record to 8-12.

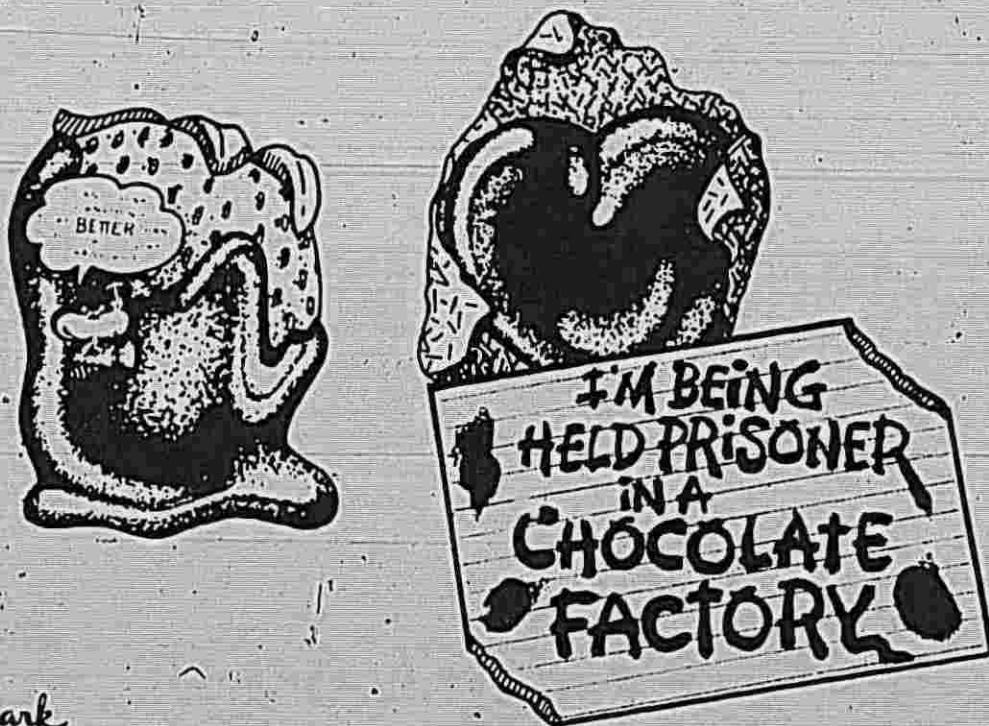

Perhaps the key to Antioch's victory was the foul situation, as they only committed six fouls to North Chicago's 16.

The word vaccine comes from the Latin word vaccinus, meaning cow. The name was given by Dr. Edward Jenner to the cowpox material which he discovered gave immunity to smallpox.

A deliciously different Valentine

Leave it to Hallmark to come up with such a tasteful idea for Valentine's Day — "chocolate" Valentine cards that look almost good enough to eat. But they won't add a single calorie, because they're printed on paper.
